Press Release

Monolithisch India Limited Champions Skilled Workforce Development in Ramming Mass Applications

Monolithisch India Limited is proud to announce the establishment of a dedicated training course for lining experts which will be known as “Monoramix Experts” upon course completion.

This initiative is aimed at developing a skilled workforce of professionals specialized in the application and maintenance of high-performance ramming mass manufactured by Monolithisch india. Trainees will undergo intensive, multi-level training covering modern lining techniques, safety protocols, and application-specific best practices, all under the guidance of seasoned industry veterans and will be put on site training upon finishing the first two stages .

The structured program includes:

Level 1 – Beginner: Introduction to refractory basics, Monoramix handling, tools, furnace types, and safety fundamentals.

Level 2 – Intermediate: Application techniques across varied conditions, quality control, surface preparation, and issue identification.

Level 3 – Advanced: Mastery of complex lining tasks, optimization of furnace performance, and leadership in site operations.

Additionally, select high-performing individuals may be considered for engagement under the official payroll of Monolithisch India Limited and could be deployed to high-consumption steel and foundry plants across the country. The objective is to support our valued customers with consistent, reliable, and technically skilled manpower, ensuring:

- Superior lining quality
- Optimized furnace performance
- Reduced downtime and operational costs
- Longer service life of refractory linings

This strategic initiative reflects our commitment to strengthening end-to-end refractory application standards and delivering value that goes far beyond the product.
