Press Release

I am Harsh Tekriwal, Co-founder of Monolithisch India, a listed entity on the NSE Emerge platform.

At Monolithisch, our mission is to manufacture the finest forms of quartz and quartzite products. These essential minerals fuel a range of industries — from steel and semiconductors to paints and medical technologies. At present, our primary focus is on the secondary steel manufacturing ecosystem, a sector that plays a decisive role in India's industrial growth. By next year, we plan to diversify into additional mineral and material products, broadening our contribution to the manufacturing value chain.

Our global vision is rooted in a simple belief: India can and should lead the world in high-quality quartz solutions. The Asian subcontinent holds several deposits comparable to the renowned Spruce Pine mines, yet many remain undiscovered or underutilized. We aim to identify these resources, leverage advanced technology, and deliver world-class products to global markets.

DGEMS serves as a catalyst in this journey. It provides access to global insights, networks, and opportunities — the very enablers required to scale an Indian manufacturing enterprise to international relevance. Its philosophy aligns seamlessly with our mission to modernize processes and push the boundaries of what Indian manufacturing can achieve.

What excites me the most is the eXtrefy and Select 200 community. This is not merely a group; it is a dynamic circle of leaders, creators, and disruptors who are shaping the industries of tomorrow. Being part of this community allows us to share our expertise, learn from global innovators, and collaborate on ideas that can transform markets. Together, we have the potential to amplify India's voice on the global manufacturing stage.

Thank you.

Yours faithfully,
For Monolithisch India Limited
